LONG DISTANCE TOLLS TO REMAIN

Order of Commission Retaining The Rev. J. H. More is Appointed Burleson Rates Affects Local Users of The Service.

Change in Name in Directory With- | County Asked to Provide Fund Sufout Removal of Phone Will Cost 50c-Other Modifications.

The so-called Burleson long distance telephone, rates which were made effective shortly after the government took over control of telephone systems in the United States. will continue in Indiana, an order to that effect having been issued by the public service commission. Many local users of long distance service had hoped for a reduction in tolls under private ownership. The commission made a few changes relative to connection charges and for changing the name in a telephone directory where the phone is not moved.

While the general scheme of long distance tolls was approved, the commission decided that all overtime calls shall be computed on the basis of "station to station" rates even if the call is placed as a "person to person" call or in any other class of call demanding a higher dren. initial fee than the station to station the companies to take steps by means of publicity and personal communications to inform patrons of the rates so that they can take advantage of the lower rates if they so desire. The companies were urged also to consider the establishment of special reduced toll rates for Sunday service in order to make fuller use of the toll facilities which would be otherwise idle.

Two reductions in the schedule of moving and installation charges were ordered by the commission. Under the schedule of charges established by the Federal government a charge of $1.50 was provided for establishing telephone service where the instruments are already in place in the subscriber's premise and no change is made in the type of instrument. This charge was reduced to 50 cents. At present a charge of $1.50 is made for a change in name. This charge also was reduced to 50 cents.

The other charges are the same as those now in effect. They are telephone connection charges, $3.50; moving telephone set from one location to another on the same premises, $3; for change in type of telephone set, $3.00. Moving and installation charges were first established in Indiana by an order of the postmaster general, Aug. 28, 1918, and were approved

Armenia has decreased from a country of twenty million people to ple. Two hundred thousand children in that country are now so weakened by starvation that they cannot live during the year. Thousands of others can be saved and it is for them that America has taken up the movement. The Armenian Relief Association hopes to raise $30,000,-000 in this country, and Herbert Hoover is quoted as declaring that the fund should be $100,000,000.

THE TREATY ISSUE. Senator Lodge has announced that he will insist upon immediate consideration of the treaty and that the Republicans will not consent to discussion of the other measures until this important issue has been settled. Treaty ratification has been slow but public sentiment now demands immediate action. There is no reason, so far as the public can see, why the contending factions cannot agree on a document. Demoerats and Republicans apparently favor the same conditions, but the influence of the President prevents the Democrats from accepting direct statements which the Chief Executive declares are implied. If article 10 means that American troops cannot be called to foreign lands by the League of Nations without the consent of congress as the President declares, surely there can be no objection to a positive statement to that effect. The Republicans in congress feel that the members of the League of Nations ought to know exactly where the United States stands on disputed points. It is to be hoped that the senate will be able to ratify the pact at a very early date.

Clifford R. Jackson has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for auditor of Jackson county. PARENTS' RESPONSIBILITY EXPLAINED BY HENDERSON County Superintendent Points out Requirements for Average Normal Child.

H B. Henderson, County Superintendent, has prepared the following article relative to "Parents' Responsibility to Children."

This problem comforts every parent directly and every teacher and minister indirectly. Quite often the busy parent fails to realize his or her responsibility, then it is the teacher's duty and minister's duty to do their work and to offer valuable suggestions to the parents. No parent can afford to fail to give his child an equal chance with his neighbor's child. This is not such a great task as one might suppose. It has been very thoroughly determined that the child requires the parents' attention on seven factors in order that the child may grow into a normal man Mr. and Mrs. Otto Knoke, who re- or woman, capable of competing side four miles southeast of Sey- with normal men and women in life's mour, entertained with a dance Tues- broad fields. If no one of the last three is used an additional pint of milk is required. A large number of school children have recently been examined by school nurses throughout the country and malnutrition has been discovered in the home of the rich in alarming numbers. This shows that lack of food is not the only cause of children being physically below their normal possibilities but lack of proper food is quite often the cause.

The child needs clean, whole garments, suitable, different clothing for day and night, keeping in mind the season and climate. No child should be required to sleep in his or her day clothing. Children should have a change of underclothing and night clothes at least once each Reductions were ordered in eight week; a change of stockings twice each week. In winter the underclothing and stockings should be warm. Every child should be permitted to play out in winter as well as summer and but one requirement is necessary, keep the feet dry and warm, and the body comfortable. Community Progress is a problem of Leadership. Without Leadership, Civic and Commercial Organizations become "debating clubs" and "resoluting bodies," neither commanding nor deserving the respect and support of substantial citizens.

MODERN Chambers of Commerce

have become indispensable in over one thousand of the most prosperous towns and cities of America. They are backed by the most intelligent citizens of the communities. Intelligent men do not support worthless organizations year after year. Having once tested the Trained Leadership idea no Indiana city has gone back to the old, inefficient way of doing community business. There is certainly much virtue in a plan that will stand this test.

Seymour Must Have

a Chamber of Commerce that will attract the Leadership of the substantial citizens of the town and command the support of the worth-while and forward-looking men and women of the community. Seymour will have such an organization if every citizen will do his part in the Trained Leadership Drive next Friday. Team-work will count. Now is the time to put the big idea across.

It's Easy-If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young-to do this you must watch your liver and bowels-there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes-pimples-a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

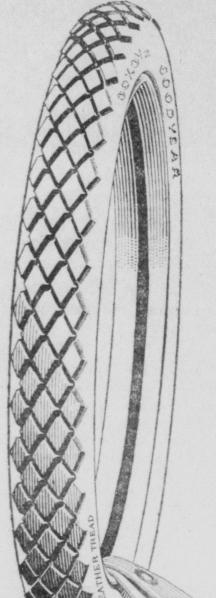

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action vet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all hould enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 10c and 25c.

The World's Largest Tire Factory Building 30x3, 30x3 and 31x4-inch Tires

Owners of small cars can enjoy the same high relative value in Goodyear Tires that gives utmost satisfaction to owners of big, costly motor carriages.

They can take advantage of that tremendous amount of equipment, skill and care employed by Goodyear to build tires of extraordinary worth in the 30x3-, 30x31/2-, and 31x4inch sizes.

They can secure these tires without waiting, despite the enormous demand, because, in addition to its larger sizes, Goodyear builds an average of 20,000 a day in the world's largest tire factory devoted to the three sizes mentioned.

If you own a Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell, or any other car using one of these sizes, go to the nearest Goodyear Service Station Dealer for Goodyear Tires and Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes.

tensive repair of the streets with gravel is an economical proposition. They point out that traffic conditions are much different here now than they were even three years ago. The establishment of market highways between Indianapolis and Louisville and Cincinnati and Evansville through this city have resulted in hundreds of big trucks, heavily loaded coming here. Councilmen say that street building in the future must be made in accordance with the new require ments and that gravel and even stone will not hold up long under the additional traffic.

Some of the streets are in such a deplorable condition that city officials have been concerned lest the motor fire truck would find passage impossible. The metal has been cut so deep and the sand and mud have become so heavy on the surface that it is with difficulty that a team pulls an ordinary wagon through it. Melvin Jerrell, fire chief, has given considerable thought to the matter and has called the attention of the council to the condition.

It is said that some of the councilmen are in favor of building permanent streets instead of trying to rebuild graveled thoroughfares. Residents on several streets have sug gested such improvement and the proposals will be given the early consideration of the councilmen. It has been suggested that the streets in the residential sections be limited in width, probably to twenty-six or twenty-eight feet. By doing this the cost of permanent streets would not be as great and more space would be given inside the curb for shade trees and grass plots. Some of the streets in Seymour, it is said, are much wider than traffic conditions demand or even warrant and it would be a useless expenditure to pave the present width. The plan to reduce the width of the streets is met with some objections and all conditions would have to be taken into account before any change is made.

It is likely that several contracts for permanent street improvements will be awarded during the coming •••••••••••• "Release you . . . get a notary " He sat down limply, "My check-book, Hilliard-for God's sake, get me my . . . check-book!" All at once he seemed to collapse; his head hung low, and his breathing became stertorous. His cheeks puffed

Hilliard sprang to him. "Rufus! Call the office! Get the house doc-

Cullen had raced to the bathroom for a glass of water; he raced back again, spilling half of it. Hilliard was chafing the broker's wrists. The three men strained at the unwieldy, unresisting bulk, while leaden fear clutched at their hearts.

The house physician bustled in to find the broker lying on the bed in a profound coma; his reflexes had gone from him; he couldn't be roused. There was no need of a stethoscope.

"Order an ice bag," said the man of medicine sharply. He himself was rattling among his vials for the calomel. Rufus was at the telephone.

"Anything I can do?" asked Hilliard earnestly. His suspicions had crystalized; and he was bitterly aware that the broker had planned not justice, but some new brand of perfidy; nevertheless, the man was unquestionably in danger-and revenge could

"Nothing-just give me plenty of fully, Cullen put out his hand to Hilliard, and spoke under his breath.

"Henry-when did he come?" "Only just now. An hour ago." "Hadn't he told you? Or hadn't you heard?" "Heard what?"

Cullen motioned to Waring. "Give it to him, Rufus . . . Oh,

The law student, without a word, produced a yellow blank and thrust it at Hilliard. He flashed a glance of indescribable contempt at the supine broker; his eyes had lost some of their anxiety.

"Oh, the big crook!" he said boyishly. "The big crook!"

Musterole Loosens Up Those Stiff Joints—Drives Out Pain

You'll know why thousands use Musterole once you experience the glad relief it gives.

Get a jar at once from the nearest drug store. It is a clean, white ointment, made with the oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister. Brings ease and comfort while it is being rubbed on!

Musterole is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Millions of jars are used annually for bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia),

"Sh-h-h! Rufus!" Still, Hilllard, at heart, agreed with him to the letter. The boy stood close to the masquerader.

"I'm sorry, Hilliard . . . it came at four this afternoon . . . we'd been hunting for you ever since . . . Hilliard wasn't interested.

"I'll wait until-" Cullen signed to him peremptorily. 'Read it, I tell you! . . . It'll give you a slant on him!"

Hilliard peered over the foot of the bed: Harmon was still lying inert. The physician nodded sidewise.

"Nothing for you to do," he said grimly; and Hilliard, only partly aware of what he was doing, gave heed to the yellow blank.

The fourth telegram of the day was from Butte, Mont., addressed to War-

"Arrived here last night after delay in Chicago. This morning's papers contain information as follows: 'The faulted vein on XLNC property adjoining Silverbow claim number one has been located about twenty feet from Silverbow boundary. Indications are ore body running at least eighty per cent average and some places high as twenty. Also some zinc and silver and traces of manganese. This evidently extends well into Silverbow, where the greatest values are undoubtedly lying, and judging from records of old XLNC vein it's a tremendously big strike.' Understand XLNC owners offering large sum, said to be well over half-million, for a controlling interest. I strongly advise all of you to get aboard for as much as Hilliard will let go. Am sending this from office of Cooley, Benjamin & Russell, who will not send separate report unless you want it. This is wonderful news and mine is sure winner, even if only a fraction as large as reported Please show this message to Hilliard. J. J. ARMSTRONG."

Hilliard sat down in the nearest chair. The lump in his throat was choking him; the moment was so big that his feelings were primitive; his expression of them were very simple. He only smiled; the meaningless, vacuous smile of an infant. That smile embraced the entire universe; it was indicative of a happiness so limitless, so perfect, that it was almost foolish. So Harmon, knowing from his own sources of the sudden strike, had rushed to Syracuse to pose as a man of honor! So Harmon had wanted to meet Waring-and find if Waring had yet heard the news, and, if he hadn't, stop the investigation by apparent frankness and ready restitution. So Harmon had been eager to destroy the contract, to promise Hilliard anything and everything, to repay the money that was subscribed already-and then, as sole owner, to take an enormous profit for

No one in the whole world-and least of all, Waring and Cullen-could have remotely fathomed the thoughts that were eddying in Hilliard's brain. As the three stood watching pain- They were not for his own aggrandizement; they were for the Cullens and Durants and for the others who need never know the acid of disillusionment. They were for the ideals he had struggled toward; they were for the friends who had stood by him. And there was one very especial and very manly thought for Jack Armstrong, who had been so courageous in his defeat, and so neutral in his behavior afterward, and who now had sent the generous news winging eastward, with the request that Hilliard should learn at once of his vindica-

And as Hillard sat there, smiling out into the silent room, and struggling to visualize the extent of fortune which had so abruptly smitten him, there was a dry murmur from the bed where Harmon lay, and a resulting silence so pregnant with meaning that the smile faded, and Hilliard was on his feet, open-eyed with the present horror brought back to him.

The physician was rising slowly from cramped knees. "It's all over," he said; paused, and added: "Apoplexy."

The only man in all America who could have testified to Hilliard's simulation had ceased to breathe.

an' a friendly natural tobacco. Keep yo' puton airs an' "sauced-up" tobaccos for the fellow that likes nut sundaes better than home made pie-

So says a friend of ours named Velvet Joe. And he just about hits the nail on the head.

Velvet is made for men who think there's no smoke like real tobacco. If you are that sort of man, listen:

Velvet was born in old Kentucky, where more than one good thing comes from. It was raised as carefully as any other Kentucky thoroughbred. But the real secret of Velvet's friendly qualities is its slow natural ageing in wooden hogsheads. Ageing in the wood never hurt anything—and least of all, tobacco.

And so we say, Velvet is good tobacconothing more or less. It runs second to none.

The picture of the pipe on the tin needn't keep you from rolling a jim-dandy cigarette with Velvet.
